To Whom It May Concern

I am writing this letter to highly commend and recognize Aarav Tapuriah for his exceptional performance and valuable contributions during his social internship with Cosmo Foundation from December 2022 to May 2023. Aarav's dedication, passion, and commitment to uplifting rural marginalized communities through education initiatives are truly commendable.

His primary focus was on building the capacities of community-based teachers within the organization. These teachers, who are not formally trained but possess basic knowledge and a passion for teaching, play a crucial role as educators and agents of change at the grassroots level.

During his internship, Aarav diligently studied the abilities and skills of these teachers and designed programs to upgrade their knowledge and skills. By providing innovative and constructive guidance, he facilitated English communication and fluency development among the teachers. Aarav adopted a participatory approach, covering various topics in a hybrid mode, including English language skills, communication abilities, speaking fluency, and proper grammar. His efforts created a supportive and interactive learning environment for rural students, enabling the teachers to employ effective teaching methods and impart practical language skills to the beneficiaries.

Additionally, Aarav played a pivotal role in promoting graphics design and digital literacy among rural students and teachers. Through his sessions, he encouraged creative thinking and facilitated the development of visual communication skills. Aarav equipped the participants with technical skills and knowledge to pursue careers in design, fostering their proficiency in using the latest design software, smartphone operation, and digital literacy. His contributions have added value and significance to the existing knowledge of the teachers in today's digitally-driven world, empowering them to thrive in various professional and creative endeavors.

Aarav's impact extended beyond the classroom as he actively organized events and sessions to commemorate special occasions. On Women's Day, he conducted a motivational session highlighting the significance of women in leadership and breaking barriers. By showcasing inspiring stories of women leaders like Malala Yousafzai, Aarav emphasized the power of education and its ability to uplift individuals. His session empowered teachers to recognize their talents, advocate for gender equality, and foster solidarity, ultimately contributing to a more inclusive and equal society.

Furthermore, Aarav conducted an effective interview skills and strategies workshop, demonstrating the key elements of a formal interview. He covered topics such as effective communication, confident responses, professional appearance, document presentation, and proper etiquette.

Aarav also organized a sports day for rural students, emphasizing the importance of sports for self-development. He introduced various outdoor, indoor, and digital games, highlighting the valuable lessons of teamwork, perseverance, and healthy habits. This event not only provided students with opportunities to engage in physical activities but also fostered relationships, a sense of belonging, and community spirit. Aarav effectively conveyed how sports can help combat anxiety and depression, and improve overall mental health.

Aarav's consistency and commitment to empowering others through education speak to his strong moral character and eagerness to uplift others in his community.

We thank Aarav for his efforts and wish him all the luck for his future.
